Dedication

As a teacher, he has been an integral part of the Industrial Arts department, sharing his skill and knowledge with students. As a class advisor, he helped immeasurably with advice about the technical aspects of the Junior Prom. As a man, he is someone many BHS students will not soon forget. With gratitude and pride, the Class of 1970 dedicates this MILESTONE to Mr. David T. Dean.

High school is a time of growing, of separating oneself from the mass. Some of us are sure of the path to take, but some are questioning. What makes a person unique? What makes him an individual?

He thinks and he listens, taking from others the best of their ideas and making them a part of himself.

Action makes his ideas reality.

He communicates with others, through words as well as by actions.

He is a total person;
he lives.

The guidance counselors take a break.

Brightly-colored college posters dot the walls. Sign-up sheets for second semester courses appear on the bulletin board at the end of the second quarter. The View-Deck machine is an interesting and profitable diversion. Secretaries hand out S.A.T. scores to apprehensive students. Dedicated personnel handle job placement and a mountain of transcript requests and college applications.

Art & Music

Raindrops shower on bearskin hats during football halftime. For a few bars, a solo voice is heard among the multitude of voices in the Mixed Choir. The Stage Band, consisting of brass instruments, string bass, drums, and piano, plays a variety of new and old popular music. Complete with straw hats, canes, and buttonhole carnations, the Barbershop Singers perform, while the formal style of presentation is kept by the newly formed Madrigal group. Talented music students have the opportunity to try out for the All-State and Southwest Festival Programs.

Bizarre odors of paint and glue waft into the corridor through an open door. A conglomeration of shapes and colors fills the room. Bright splashes of dye cover the floor as freshly batiked walls hang to dry. Metal sculptures flashing in the sun contrast with the soft blending of pastels. For those interested in sampling around, there are courses in Basic and Advanced Design. Sculpture, Painting, Drawing, and Ceramics are for those with more specialized tastes. Ambitious students find Advanced Studio, and students interested in gaining perspective for today's art are offered Art History.

Pens scratch across a page; carriages return with a bang; assets = liabilities + proprietorship; and the Divisumma rumbles ominously. Business students are given the opportunity to branch out in many fields: Data Processing, for those students interested in machines; Shorthand and Typing, for the girls planning to continue their careers as secretaries; Distributive Education, for students planning to major in selling products and Bookkeeping, along with Office Machines, for those interested in accounting.

A mood of intense depression gives way to one of rollicking hysteria as the World Literature class switches from Joyce's Dubliners to The Rivals by Richard Sheridan. Makeup is applied gingerly to fellow students, turning them into clowns, as the Acting and Directing class studies backstage techniques. Students nervously anticipate comments following a presentation in Public Speaking. Original plays are written by members of the class studying Expository Writing.

Sounds of chanting fill the language lab as beginning language students echo pronunciation drills. Verbs fly as "le Chef" starts a rapid fire drill. Spanish students react with varied emotion to the proud tradition of the bullfight. Latin students recall the grandeur of Rome, while those studying French enjoy the humor of Moliere. The language department now boasts lecture courses in both French and Spanish. Russian sounds through the halls for the first time in the form of an extra-curricular activity.

The whine of jigsaws pierce the quiet of the hall. The fans of the crucible furnace melting metal roars behind a closed door. The flashing light of the welding machine reflects in the glass of a face shield.

Various skills in carpentry, metal, and drafting provides students with a helpful background for use in the industrial arts. The numerous tools and machines available enables professional work to be accomplished as instruction becomes more advanced. The practical experience gained is invaluable in the present and will be in the future.

Science encourages the mind to reason step by step, giving the student the perspective of logic.

Vibrantly colored maps cascade from pastel walls. Representatives of Red China hotly debate the question of nuclear disarmament with U.S. delegates in an involving game of "Political Intrigue." Current events day provides a forum for opinions on peace marches, the draft lottery, the moratorium, and man's first step on the moon.

Diversity is the key word to this department. As the "U.S. in World Affairs" class seeks to understand and form opinions about the Soviet Union, World Civilization reads about the Crusades. Sociology attempts to explore America's problems today, while U.S. History studies her problems of the past.

CAFETERIA STAFF

The Cafeteria staff works deftly to prepare an attractive meal

A sign on the cash register says "we do not accept Canadian money." A long hot lunch line forms on veal, noodles, and applesauce days. Dodging the ever-present buffer cords is a between-mod pasttime. After summer vacation, the gym floor is varnish-shiny. Daydreaming, one looks out the window at a man on a lawnmower lazily cutting circles on the football field.

The kitchen and custodial staffs play an important role in the management of the school. The women feed hungry students for five mods offering them a hot meal, cold grinders, and numerous deserts. In line with this are the custodians who clean the cafeteria after the rush. Throughout the year the school's maintenance is the responsibility of the custodians.

Activities

Cheerleaders & Pep Club

A faint chorus of "Our Team is grrrrreat!" emerges from the streamer-covered buses as they pull up before arch-rival Cheshire's gym. The football field is gradually covered with confetti as the spectators come alive at the Shelton game. Who are the Rowdies? The Pep Club now includes several male members, who add their loud voices to the cheering section. A huge "Hornet" pops out of the hive at the big East Haven game. The cheerleaders echo players' names in the new team cheer. Under the supervision of Miss Virginia Moessmang and Mrs. Anna Bagley, the team brings home a victory.

Through the Christian Children's Fund, Huang Mei Shou of Changhua, Taiwan, is Branford High's adopted child.

"Leadership Through Participation" was the theme of the Student

A letter from Huang Mei-Shuo is read on the morning announcements along with a plea to council members to clean up the football field during their free mods. Nobody can use the soda machine during weekly Monday afternoon meetings. Assigned parking spaces and a revised dress code are reaped from long hours of debate and close communication with advisors Mr. Edward Barry and Miss Barbara Seavey.

The proceeds from Student Council fund-raising projects, such as the School Fair, help to build a Peace Corps school in Cerrito, Paraguay. Here Cerrito students look at plans for their new school.

Ruthanne McGavack helps Lyle Ramshaw demonstrate the explosive thermite reaction.

Prospective members, Kenneth Carloni and Sharon Burban, enjoy refreshments after a meeting.

A darkened room, a quiet group of students, the sizzling of fire, an explosion brightens the room. This fascinating aspect of science is emphasized through demonstrations required of each member. The chemistry lab is available to them as is the assistance of the club's advisor, Mrs. Luci Patch. "A Handbook of Chemistry and Physics" is awarded to an outstanding chemistry student.

Cosmopolitan Club

Bucket in hand, Theresa Twigg awaits the next car in line.

Bare feet splash through cool puddles on the hot tar at a Cosmopolitan Club car wash. Tupperware lettuce crispers and a pointsettia plant inch them along their way. Miss Hazel Lorson and Mr. Warren Adams arrange for members to earn money independently and coordinate group activities for the club's 1971 European trip. The work goes on as Picadilly Circus, the Latin Quarter, and Via del Corso seem impossibly far away.

Choir

Paul Bernacki accompanies Margo Festa in "Silent Night."

Folders, thick with music, are piled on the piano. Students noisily shift music stands and chairs before class. Boys', girls', or mixed voices filter from the room at the end of the corridor, under the direction of Miss Ruth Frischkorn. Sopranos strain to reach a high "G". A freshman is lost in the complicated bars of the "Hallelujah Chorus". The results of continuous rehearsing are acknowledged at the spring and winter concerts.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION CLUB OF AMERICA

Red and white Branford tee shirts, scarves, berets and jackets sold by D.E.C.A. are worn by a large part of the BHS population. Members decorate the display case in the lobby as they would a store window. The "Hornet's Nest", where students are able to buy school supplies and other merchandise, helps members learn the techniques of salesmanship.

Diversified Work Experience Program

Participating members leave school after having their classes in the morning. Branford High's vocational bus transports each of these students to his or her job. Mr. Philip Delise has supplied a program in which students can work during school hours without missing any classwork. This training experience, which now helps the student to earn money, becomes valuable upon graduation.

DWE participant Bonnie Wallace works as a secretary for the Branford Board of Education.

DIVERSIFIED WORK EXPERIENCE

Spanish Club

Minutes from the previous meeting are rapidly read in Spanish. The less experienced members look lost as the rest of the meeting is also conducted in this incomprehensible tongue. Slides of the trip to Mexico last summer are shown along with detailed explanations. Various customs of the Spanish-speaking countries are incorporated into the activities of the Spanish Club, sponsored by Mrs. Martha Shaff.

French Club

The mystery unfolds as students play "Qui-suis-je" and other French games. Funds for a trip to Canada are raised through weekly bake-sales and the sale of Branford banners. An interest in the French language and customs draws members of Le Cercle Francais together. At meeting under the direction of Mrs. Carolyn McKelvey, it is common to hear French phrases being thrown back and forth.

Deborah Ghodonius, Claudia Nobile, Diana Sattelberger, and Karen Heckart helped raise money through the sale of Branford banners and polywogs.

FRENCH CLUB

FRONT ROW: Lauren Santello, Robin Bescher, Susan Tamulevich, Deborah Ghodonius, Secretary; Sally Barnes, President; Claudia Nobile, Vice-President; Kathleen Sullivan, Treasurer; Elaine Ramshaw, Debby Kessen, Judith Kessin. Wednesday meetings and workshops led by Mrs. Betsey Berk lead up to the year's major production, "The Sound of Music." Stage crews brave the football team and the lack of heat in the Pit. Old shirts and jeans turn orange with make-up. Chaos reigns supreme backstage as a novice scurries back and forth searching for her wimple. Mrs. Mary Sue Burke smooths away stage fright and then sighs with relief as the last curtain falls. Tears smile through cold cream and the announcement to strike the set comes to prove it's all over.

A brand-new teacher aide receives an impromptu course on how to put on a first grader's boots, raincoat, mittens, ski pants, and hat before his bus leaves. Questions and answers about education fly back and forth at the annual FTA panel discussion, arranged by Miss Ruth Frischkorn.

An Army nurse speaks at a meeting. Trips are taken to the Hartford and Bridgeport hospitals. Films on various scientific subjects are scheduled by Mrs. Elaine Brainerd. The members discuss a change in the club's name to one which will indicate that not only future nurses may join.

Doing typing or mimeographed work for teachers and selling colorful stationery, manicure sets, magic markers, and other gift items from Tom Watt kits helps raise money to send three delegates to the FBLA National Convention in Philadelphia. Band & Majorettes

The school fair is one of the places the jazz band can be found performing.

The majorettes and band combine to the music of "The Lonely Bull."

A tuba blocks the way as forty band members jam into the band closet after practice. Somehow, no matter how good it sounds inside, the quality of the music seems to float away out on the field. The notes bounce up and down with each step as Mr. Thomas Greig leads the way across the football field during practice. Blinding spotlights on the concert stage, a hot Memorial Day parade in 100% wool uniforms, freezing fingers and cold mouthpieces at the Thanksgiving Game — all are rewarded with a sense of accomplishment.

Silvery flashes are viewed against the background of vibrant red uniforms. On a cold Saturday morning icy, steel batons are finally warmed up as the majorettes march over to the home side. The nervousness and the anxieties subside as the band strikes the first note of "Washington Post". Hours of grueling practice under the watchful eye of Mrs. Anna Bagley go into the success of each performance. The majorettes execute intricate routines of twirls and kicks throughout the year at football games, pep rallies, and band concerts.

MAJORETTES

KNEELING: Maureen Corcoran, Margaret True, Theresa Ahern, Janet Stober, Donna Howard, captain; Carol Dill, Robin Taylor, Gretchen Dugan, Dana Hill. National Honor Society

Tension over, Tama Ardolino and Richard Kahl relax after the induction ceremony.

Secret pride suffocates under a cool modesty. Mrs. Mary Daly calmly directs rehearsals with her marvelous organization. An official-looking envelope contains the congratulatory letter. Members chosen as juniors and seniors are awarded yellow and blue emblems. The timid recitation of an unfamiliar oath ends with those familiar qualities of character, leadership, scholarship, and service.

Lance Ramshaw lights the candle symbolizing character.

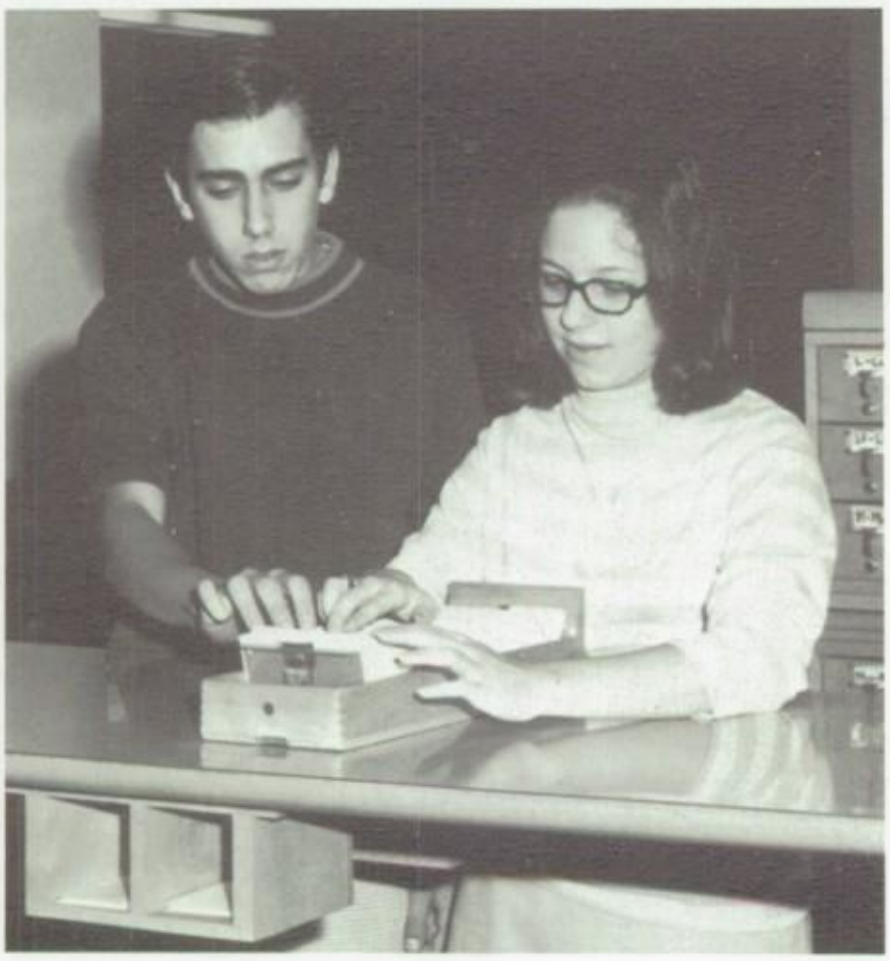
AUDIO-VISUAL AIDES

Walter Packer, William Lamb, Stephen Rouza, Alan Schultz, Louis Pacelli, Mr. Edward Hippolitus, advisor.



LIBRARY AIDES

Lou Pacelli, Alta Berry.

The secrets of the Dewey Decimal System slowly unfold. Quietly chanting the alphabet to find the all-important card in the catalogue, the library aides give up their free studies to help Mrs. Shirley Murphy and Mrs. Carol Moss.

A threaded film projector is ready to begin. The image on the overhead is again reflected on the screen. A call to Mr. Edward Hippolitus' room will bring one of the audio-visual aides, and within a short time a piece of equipment is either set up or repaired.

REVERBERATIONS EDITORIAL STAFF

Christopher Fox, Theresa Twigg, Virginia Sampson, Martha Alexander, Mr. Salvatore Pettinato, advisor; Linda Donofrio, Gary Crocker, Marsha Hoyt, Gail Hershatter.

"REVERBERATIONS: Submit!" Brightly silk-screened covers contain a myriad of creative expression. Folders of possible material circulate among the editorial board and the REVERBERATIONS advisor, Mr. Salvatore Pettinato.

Few are spared the satirical lash of the WHIP. Along with Lon Chaney and Bela Lugosi, the WHIP comes out with the full moon. Miss Barbara Seavey and Mr. Thomas Murray aid and abet the staff's irregular features like the mental torpor awards, Tom Swifties, and dry weather reports.

BAROMETER editors desperately search for rulers marked in tenths for pica-counting in Mrs. Portia Weiskel's room. To meet a deadline, set-ups sometimes last far into the night. A magazine format and striking black-and-white covers attract many new readers.

SELECTMEN

Michael Nazar, second selectman; Douglas Black, first selectman; George Lepre, third selectman.

"Strike back with issues: vote People's!" A balloon-supported sign floats through the door at the animated debate on party platforms. "Swing along with George of the Jungle!" Election results are shouted through the halls as they are posted on the office windows, proving the People's Party victorious. "Reese Power" buttons circulate among loyal Progressives. Weeks of hard work climax on April 8 with a student take-over of town government.

New Interests

A variety of student interests is reflected by newly formed clubs and study groups. In a darkened room, aspiring yogis relax and meditate, oblivious to the noise in the hall. Dedicated practice results in supple bodies able to perform the fluid movements of the "sun exercises." As the year progresses, paint-spattered smocks become as colorful as the canvases of Art Club members. Chanting the unfamiliar sounds of a new alphabet, Russian students start with the fundamentals. Taking action about their concern with the pollution and destruction of our natural resources, Students for a Better Environment sponsors an environmental teach-in and "Plant A Tree Day."

Concentrating on a basic yoga exercise, Gail Hershatter, Elizabeth Newell, and Linda Donofrio practice Bhujanga Asana (the Cobra).

Ski Club

"Killy is Coming." The cold, crisp air and dazzling whiteness of Pico Peak fell the senses. Ski boots and poles crunch into the snow of Whiteface Mountain. With a spray of white, Mr. Kenneth Schwartz comes to a parallel stop. Novice skiers clamber gingerly onto the beginner's slope, looking with envy at those gliding down steeper trails and making it all look so easy.

Marta Von Trapp, portrayed by Amy Torello, meets her new governess in "The Sound of Music".

A tiny freshman girl attempts to wedge her way into the lunch line. Freshmen "sign in" with Mrs. Moss in the library at the beginning of a mod. The girls experience a strange new feeling as they realize that there are boys on the other side of the gym! The first day begins with a terrifying rumor that there are still senior stairs — somewhere. By the end of a hard, yet satisfying year, our freshmen have gained a sense of security that comes with the feeling that next year, somebody will be looking up to them!

At the snap of the ball, an East Haven player is tripped up at the line of scrimmage.

In silence, the fans anxiously await the kick-off and the start of the new season. The crowd lets out a roar as the team charges onto the field. Encircled by the team, Coach Joseph Farina reviews plays for the game. Numbers disappear from mud-soaked jerseys. Despite a less than perfect season, an overwhelming number of supporters turn out for the football banquet.

Cross Country

Groans are uttered as bodies lie on the grass with legs stretched out precisely six inches above the ground. Waiting in front of the school, one watches boy after boy run by. The supply pond becomes a familiar sight to members of the cross country team. Practice is highlighted by a ten mile run one Saturday. All is worth it, though, as the team, coached by Mr. Stanley Petela, achieves a six win-two loss record.

Jeffrey Hawthorne "heads" the ball.

From double sessions in the humid heat of August to chilly, early evening practices in October the Soccer Club runs. Soccer is a fast sport; the team is always running, running and running. Despite injuries and the loss of two captains, the work and sweat pays off when Head Coach Paul Rowen treats at McDonald's after the team breaks St. Paul's winning streak.

With great determination, Lawrence Giordano fights for the ball.

Field Hockey

Team spirit takes over in a tense moment.

Hockey sticks crack together as the centers bully for position. The goalie stands menacingly in front of the net, swathed in protective padding with hockey stick at ready. Miss Virginia Moessmang stands at the sidelines giving encouragement to her players and correcting their tactics. Finally freeing herself from her guard, a player dribbles the ball down the field for a goal.

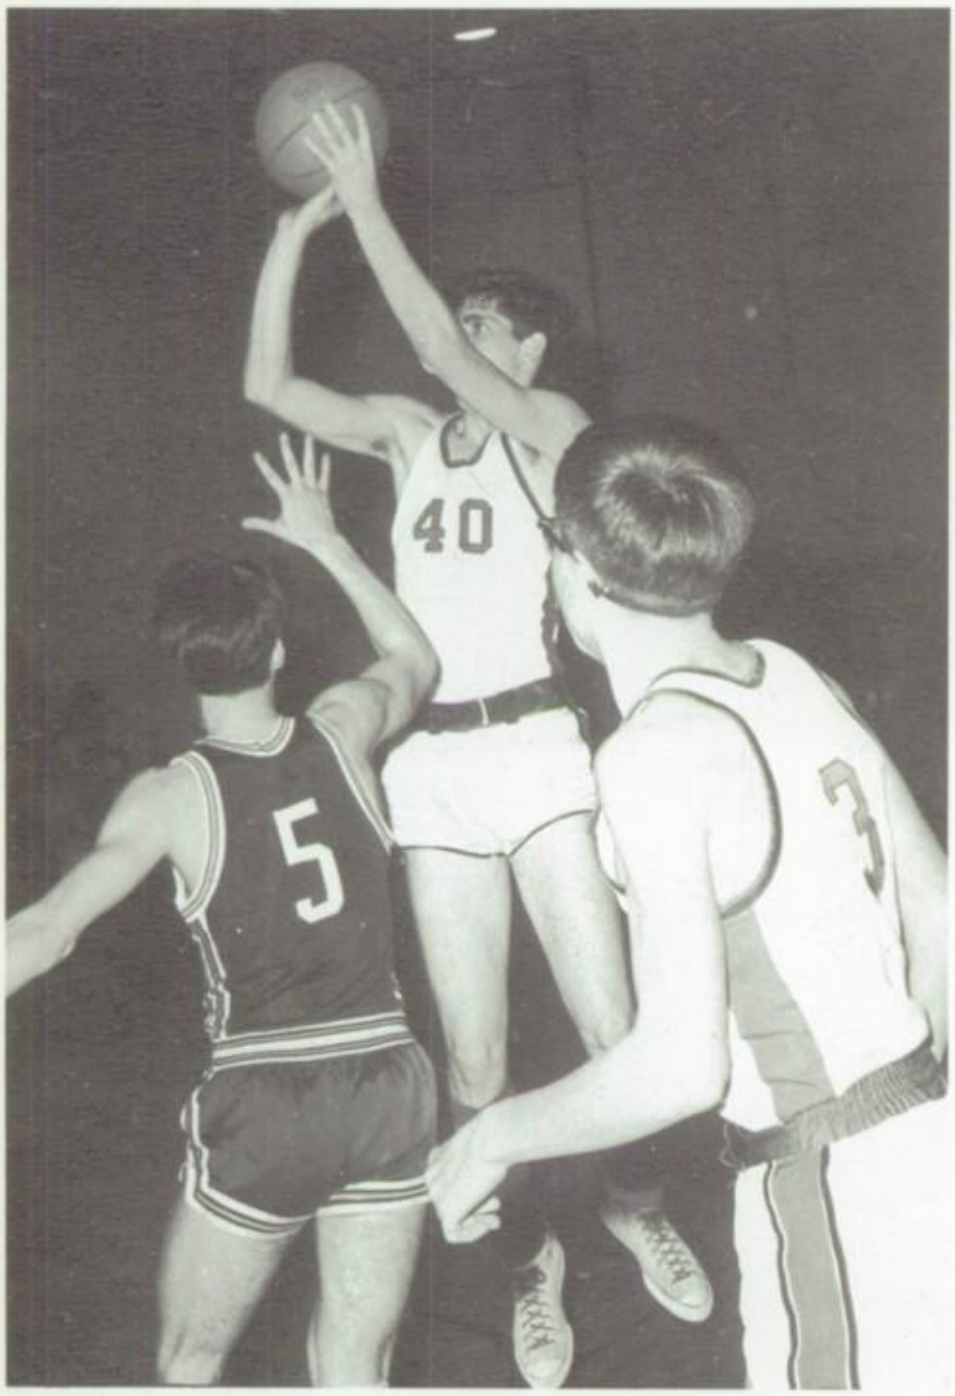
Tom Brazzell spots a receiver.

Elmer Jones gets off a quick jump shot.

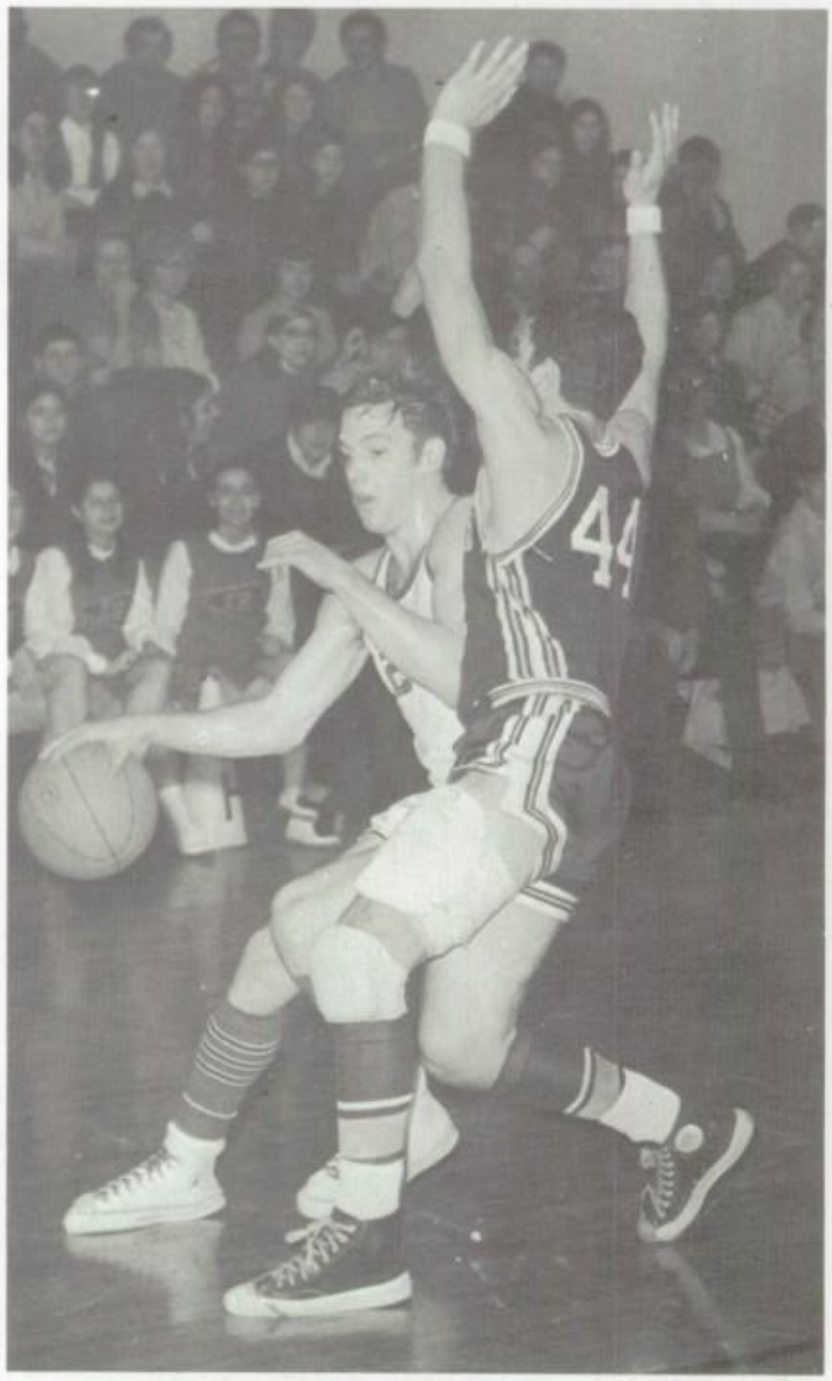


The ball swishes cleanly through the hoop as two more points go up for Branford. Fighting to gain possession of the ball, the battle for the rebound is on. As they scrape for the loose ball, the boys fall heavily to the floor, entangled in a mass of arms and legs. To the dismay of their opponents, varsity players freeze the ball as the clock runs out. Exuberantly happy, the team prepares to throw Coach Thomas Murray into the shower after a big win.

JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM

KNEELING: Allan Dolomont, Anthony Yasevac, James Howard, Peter Alfano, Bernard Moncrief, Thomas Bray, Ronald Washington. STANDING: John Altermatt, Arthur Knapp, Elmer Jones, Paul Redman, Steve St. John, George Corbett, Donald Welch, Mr. Robert Ellis, coach.

Peter Alfano falls to the floor in a scramble for the ball.



Guarded closely, Gary Dunn tries to elude his opponent.

Richard Vancisin grimaces as he recovers the ball.

"Move that ball!" Breathing becomes heavier as the drill endlessly continues. "Defense, play the ball, not the girl!" Play patterns are repeated again and again. New thirty second rule demands more from each player. Miss Virginia Moessmang coaches the varsity, while Mrs. Anna Bagley begins to break in the junior varsity for the beginning of the season.

Susan Angeloff struggles to keep the ball.

VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM

Miss Moessmang encourages Deborah Johnson after a tense first half.

Branford's reach is not quite long enough.

Girls' & Boys' Track

Bodies swing into the air and land softly on foam strips. Javelines, discuses, and shot puts fly as members of the track teams improve skills with the help of Miss Virginia Moessmang, Mr. Richard Walker, and Mr. David Johnson. A baton is swiftly passed from hand to hand in the 880-yard relay. Runners whiz by as students race a variety of distances from 100-yard dash to the two mile run.

Steven Anderson soars to new heights.

BOYS' TRACK TEAM

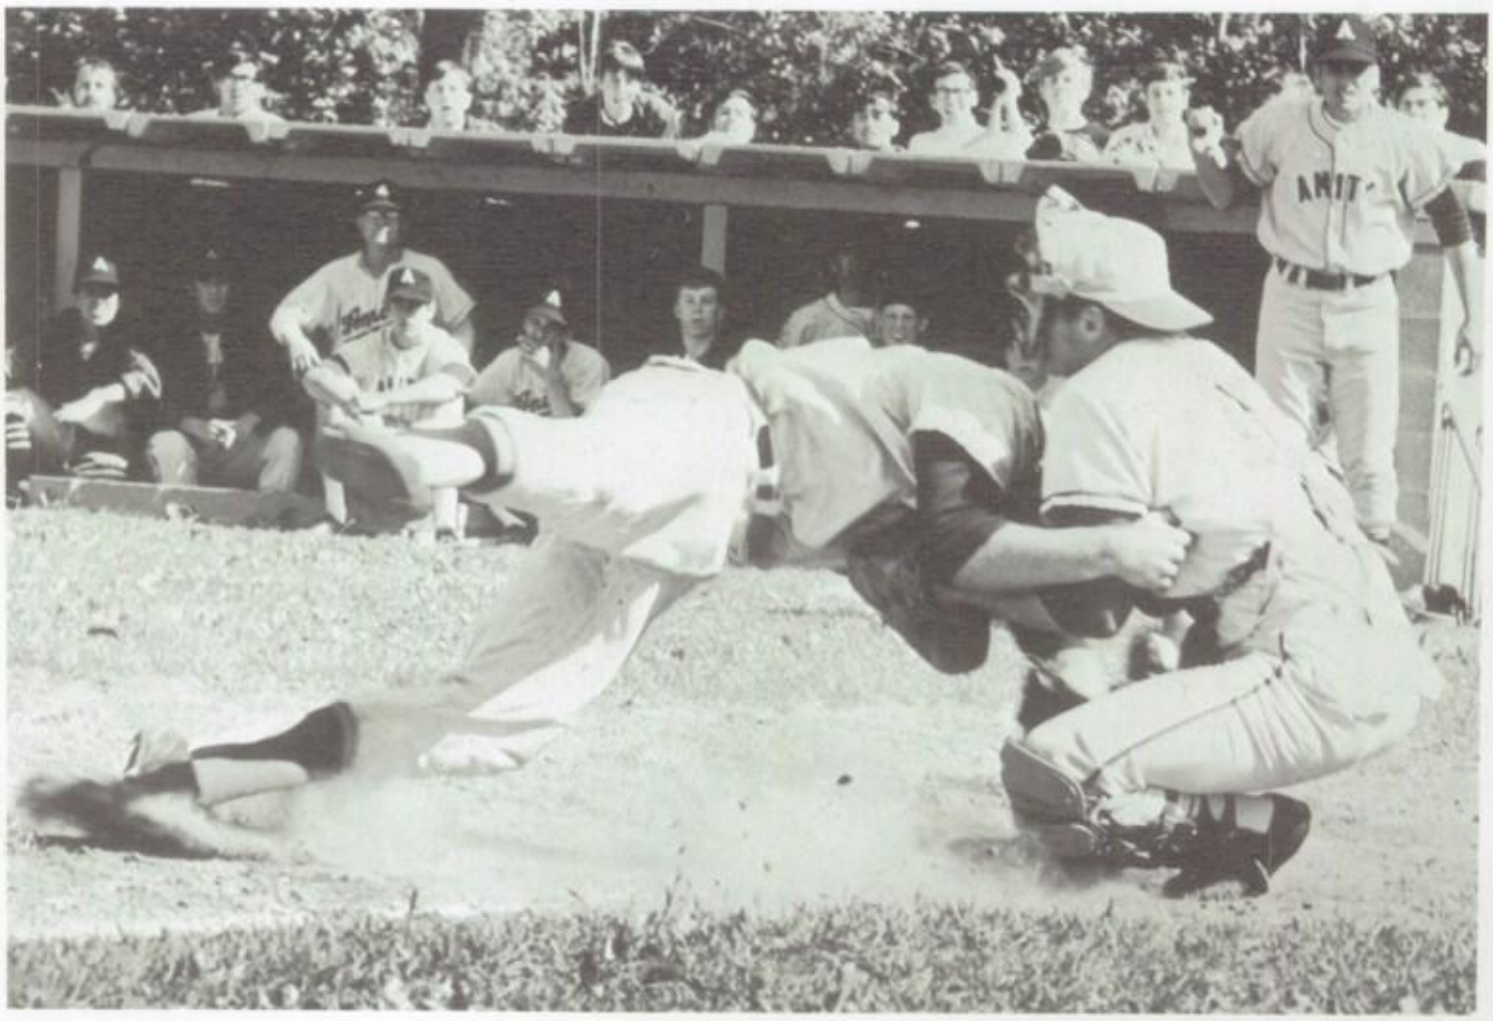
Thomas Stober rushes to vault.

Powerful Louis Desi puts the shot.

Baseball

Despite a rough collision, Branford's catcher hangs on to the ball.



BASEBALL TEAM

William Calabrese lays down a slow bunt.

George Lepre lets loose with his fast ball.

The bat cracks against the force of the ball. A high fly plops easily into the outstretched glove of a distant outfielder. On the third strike the ball whizzes past the batter. Protected by a mask the catcher crouches behind the plate. The crowd groans as the umpire calls it a ball. The players field the grounders and flies placed by Coach Thomas Murray.

Golf & Tennis

The long silver shaft of a nine iron glints in the sunlight. After a good shot, the little white ball arches across the fairway in a long, high drive toward the green. Perfect form requires intense concentration. Coach Stanley Petela watches handicaps decrease as the season progresses. The ultimate achievement: a hole in one.

Tennis balls bounce off the gym wall during an indoor practice. Courts are used almost continuously by the twenty-man team. Each player must rely on his own performance — there are no team members to fall back on. Mrs. Barbara Barker demonstrates the footwork and coordination which must be maintained even in the last moments of a trying game. A lone player slowly leaves the court for home after a long practice session.

GOLF TEAM

TENNIS SQUAD

Exchange Students

Always smiling, always friendly, Maria Alejandra Zabalaga has made many friends at BHS. She is in Branford as part of the Rotary Club exchange and her home is in La Paz, Bolivia, with her parents and two brothers. Her father is a doctor, and her mother is "el amo de casa." She likes the people she has met at BHS, and likes Branford because it is close to the sea. Alejandra is staying with Smith's. Before returning to Bolivia she will stay with two other families and will visit other states.

Quiet and pleasant, our student from Brazil is seventeen-year-old Maria Cristina Fusaro Pinto. She lives in Uba, Minas Gerais, with her parents and older sister. Mr. Pinto is a doctor, and Cristina's mother a piano teacher. Cristina is also an accomplished pianist — she has studied piano for eleven years. She is staying with Spear's for her first three months in America. Upon her return to Brazil, Cristina hopes to go to the University to study languages. She will speak to the Rotary Club in her home town about our country.

In Memorium

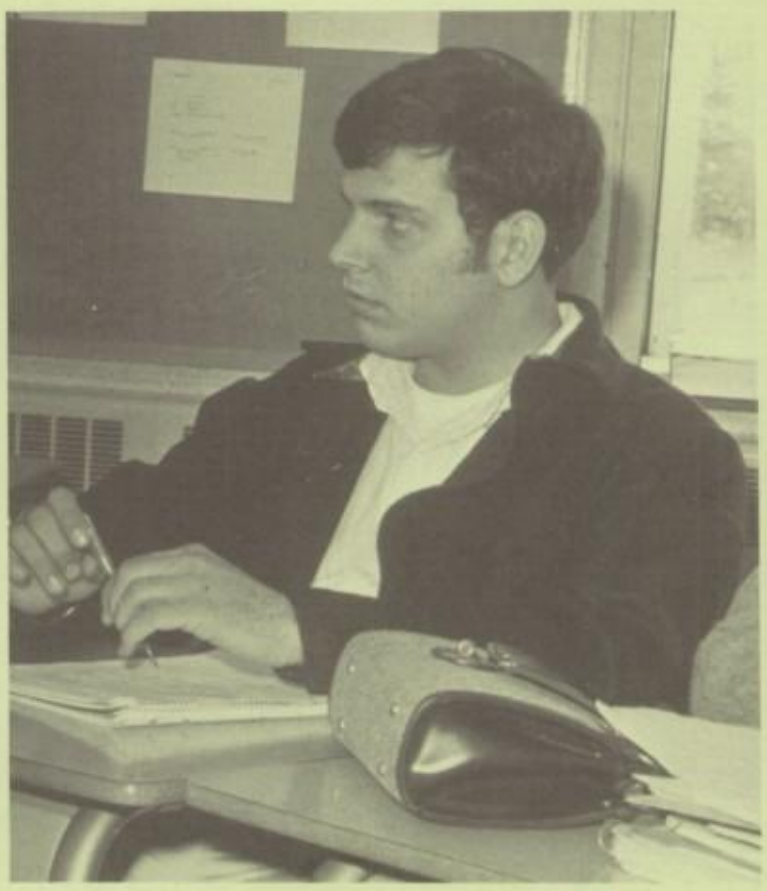
THE FALLEN KING

I am all alone and I have fear,
Even with this beauty near.
This place is filled with good,
But all I see are trees of wood.
I feel very oddly strange,
Like here the joys of life are out of range.
I feel I must up and run,
And escape this forest and find light and sun.
I will never be able to live in this place,
Where poets say there is love and grace
But I know not where to go.
I am all alone and wanted it so.
At last I thought, after all this time,
I would finally find joy and peace of mind.
This was to be my kingdom and I the greatest king,
I wanted to find the secrets of life,
And life without eternal strife.
I would have cared not but for myself,
And think nothing of riches and wealth.
But now I know this can never be,
For there is no hermit inside of me.

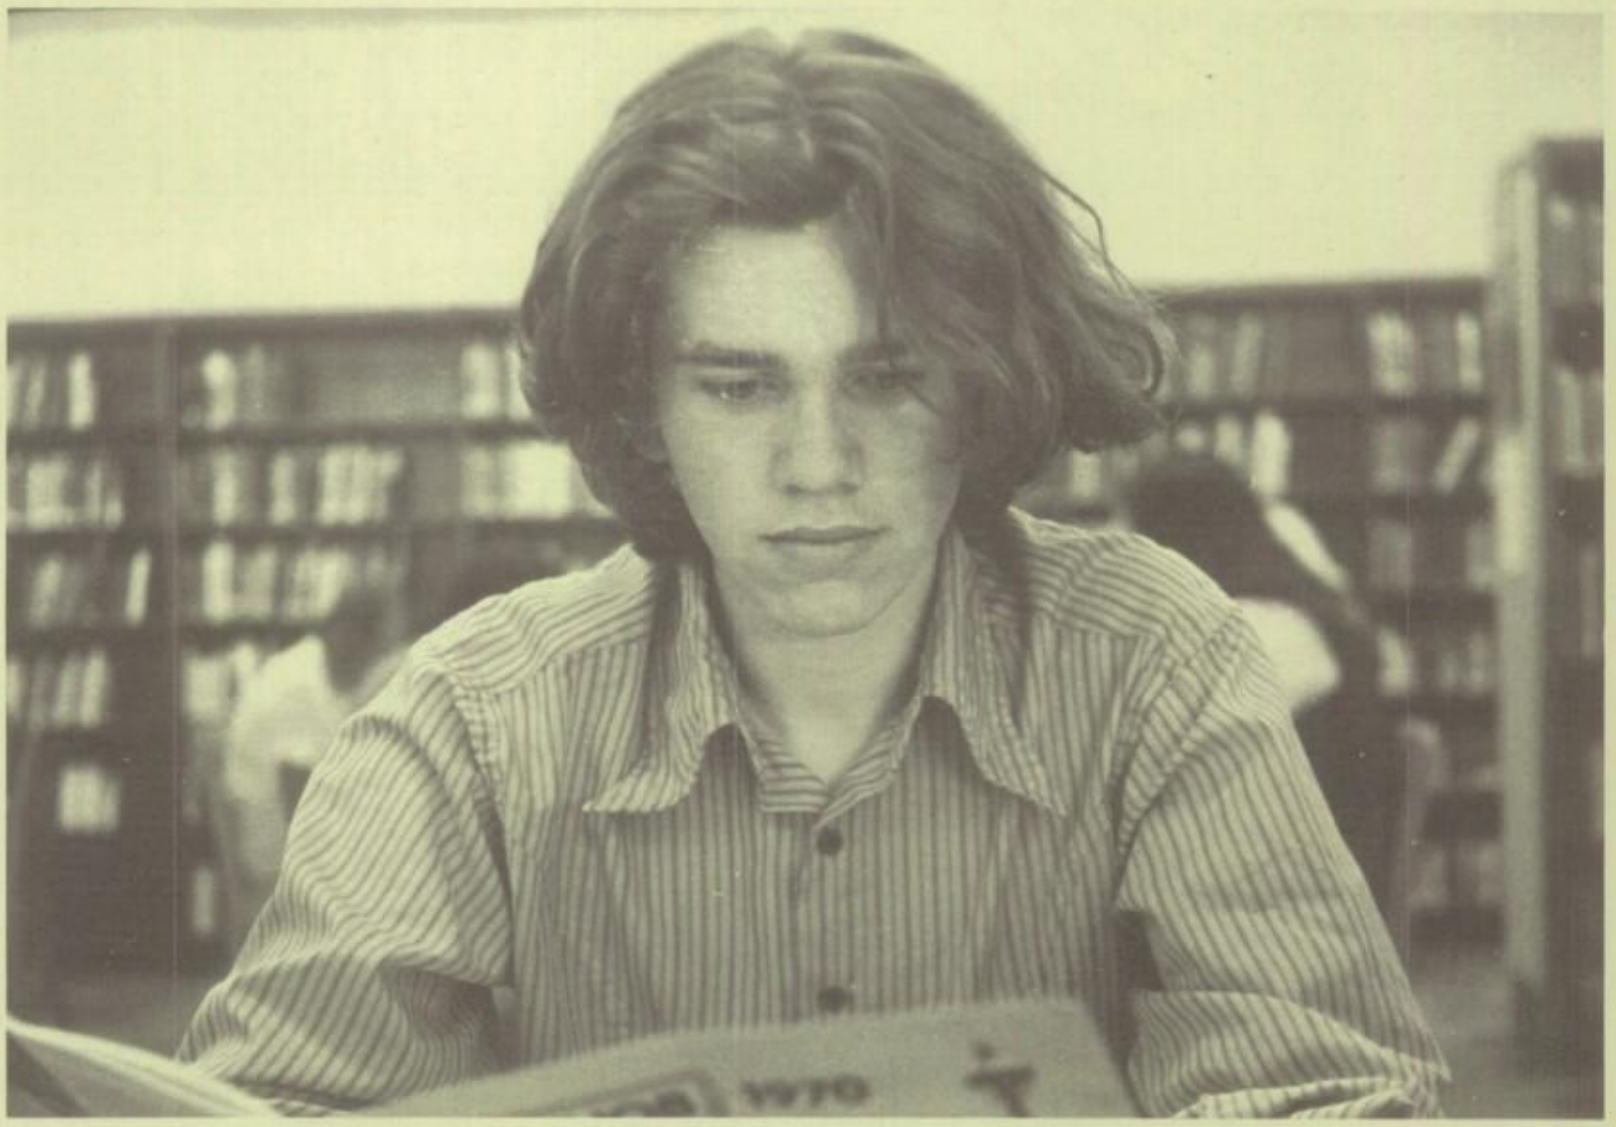
by David Bartholomew

Becoming an individual is not a finite process; there is no point at which one is finished. An individual must always be growing, always changing, or risk losing his uniqueness.

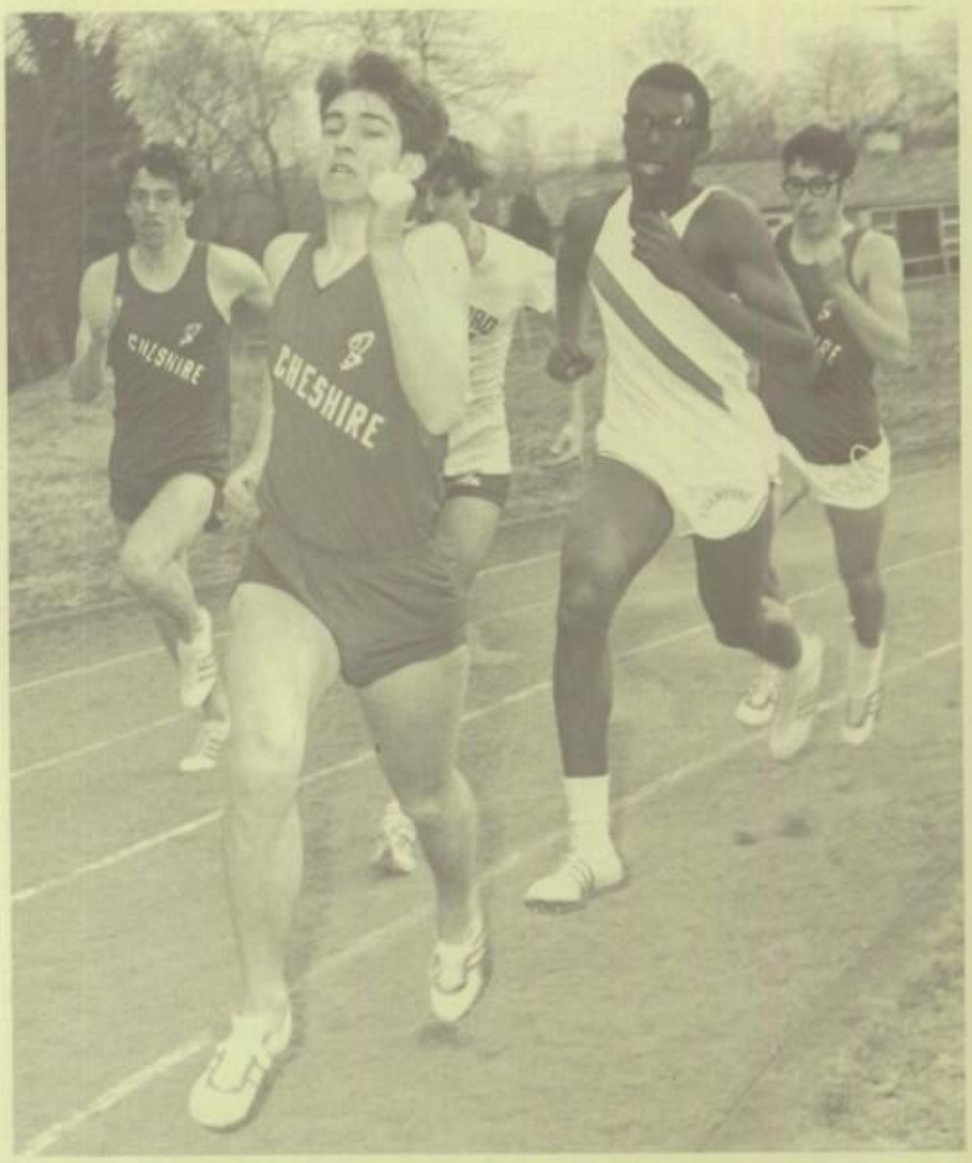
He must be involved with people and ideas, changing them or himself.



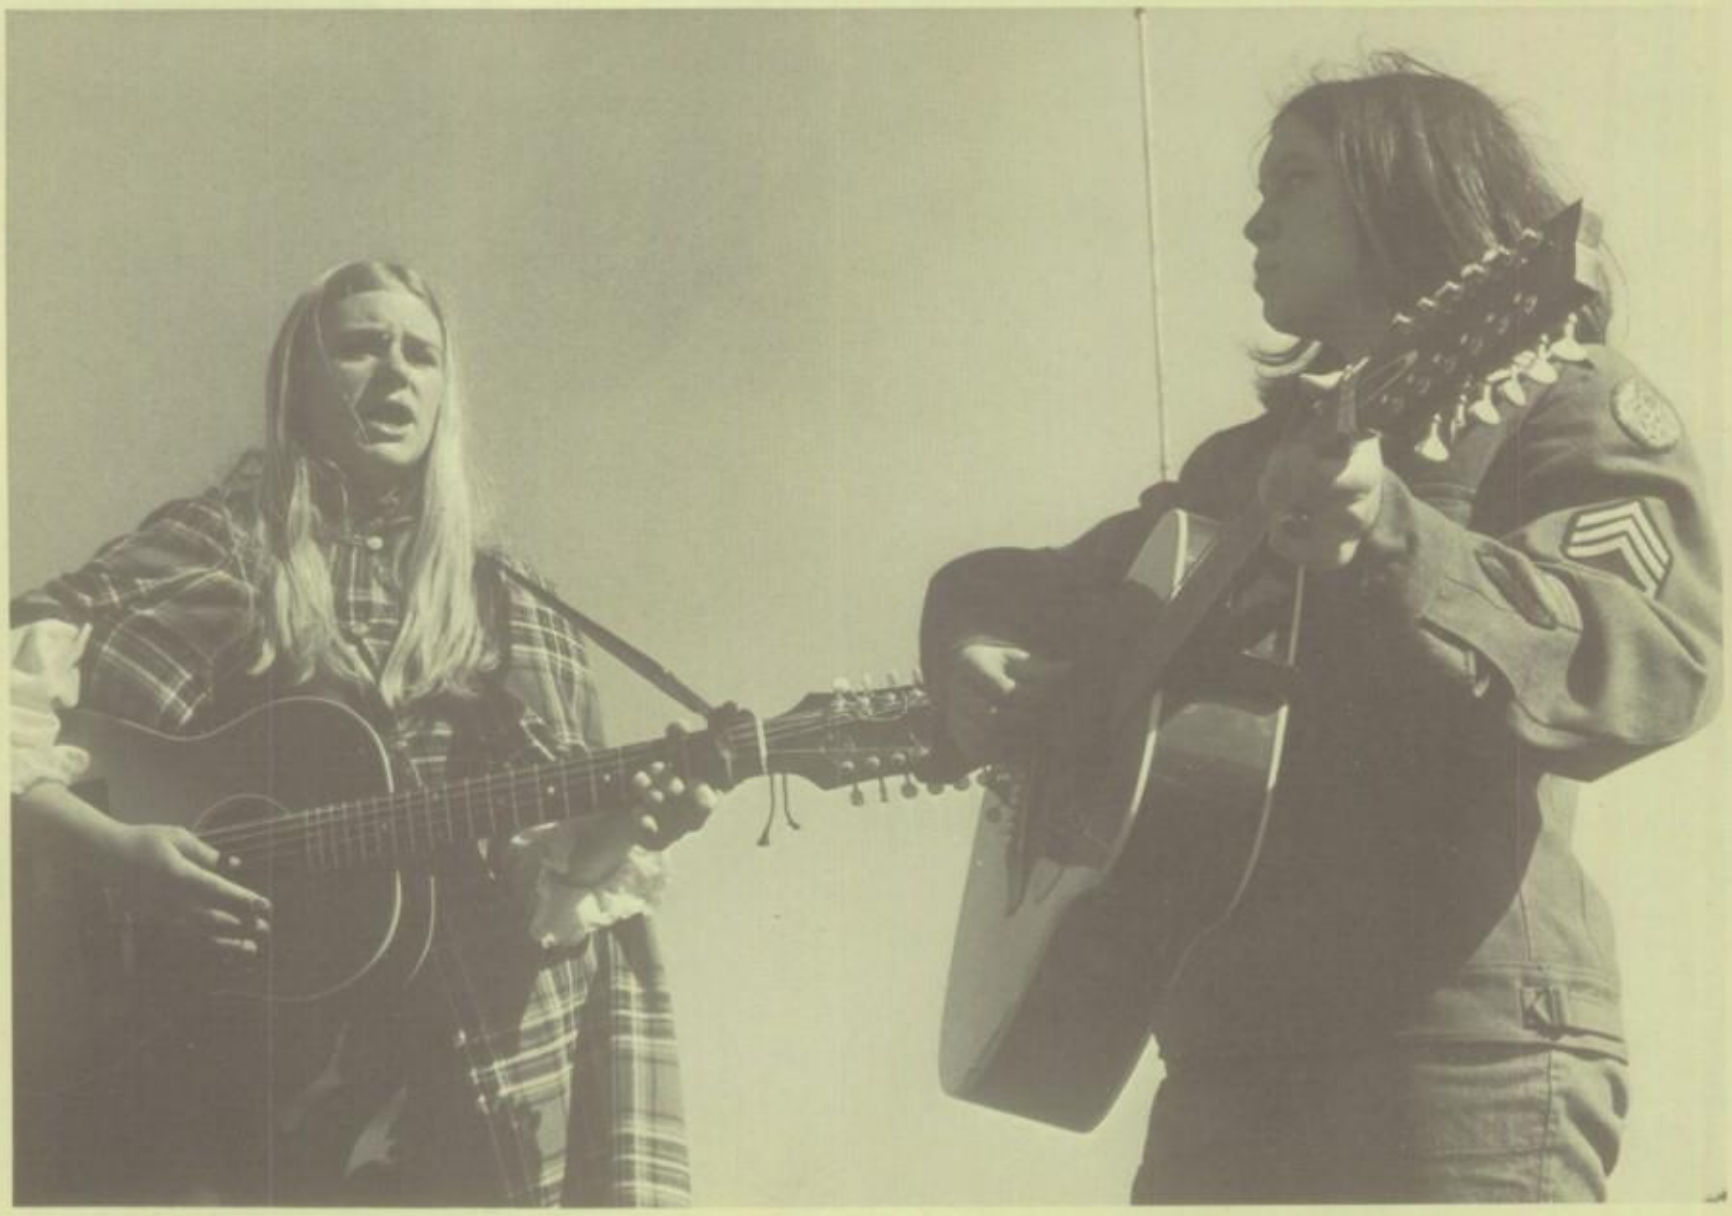
From his involvement will come change, and accomplishment.



But he must also leave time for himself, time to think and time to be alone.



And he must never stop reaching for something better. For him, there are no limits.



In Memorium

In May of 1969 Mr. Carlton Holmes died, several months after unexpected hospitalization. In the Business Department of Branford High, he took a personal interest in each of his students, talking to them as adults in order to know and to help them. This interest also extended into the school itself, through his active involvement as basketball score-keeper and as advisor to various organizations.

For these things Mr. Holmes is remembered, but above all, he is missed for his unlimited energy and his ever-present, overflowing good humour.

Acknowledgments

Without the dedication, humor, encouragement, and know-how of Mrs. Lucila Patch, the 1970 MILESTONE would not have been possible. Constantly working and thinking, she guided us to insure a successful yearbook. While presenting her own ideas she also tried to show us every angle, every choice, and every innovation which could be put to use; but left the final decision to us.

Thank you, Mrs. Patch, for your sincerity, your interest, your concern, and your hard work.

We also thank the student photographers for teaching us camera techniques and for supplying us with pictures.

To Mr. Jack Brown of O'Toole and Sons we express our appreciation for his understanding. He was always available when problems arose and did his best to solve them. Thank you.
